

Where to Eat Crab on National Crab Day

Get crabby in South Florida on Thursday, March 9

One of the best things about living in South Florida (aside from, well, everything) is our constant access to unbelievably fresh seafood. And this Thursday, March 9, we get to celebrate some of that seafood with National Crab Day.

Here are our favorite places to eat crab this Thursday:

LT Steak & Seafood

The Betsy Hotel is as adorable as its in-house restaurant, Laurent Tourondel's LT Steak & Seafood {1440 Ocean Drive, Miami Beach; 305.673.0044}, is delicious. While there, celebrate the crab-filled day with Crunchy Curried Lump Crab sushi with mango and cilantro ($16), a starter of Grilled Alaskan King Crab poached in yuzu butter ($26), or a Seafood Platter from the raw bar ($47). The latter comes with three oysters, three clams, two tiger shrimp, one King crab leg, and two Taylor Bay scallops. LT Steak & Seafood will be open on Thursday from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Happy dining!

By Jennifer Agress | Miami Editor

<http://diningout.com/miami/eat-crab-national-crab-day/>